

INNOVATION GROWTH PROGRAM FUNDING RECIPIENTS

These five businesses have received more than 350,000 through the Innovation Growth Program:

- Evolution Wheel ($100,000) is commercializing solid tires formulated for the forklift and aerial work platform market.
- Aquatic Life ($50,000) is commercializing remote water-quality monitoring software to receive water testing data in real time.
- TRAINFO Corporation ($32,000) has developed sensors to provide motorists with information on approaching trains, and the information can be used to reduce traffic congestion and collisions at railway crossings.
- Creative Applications for Sustainable Technologies Inc. ($89,000) is developing web-based software that helps municipal planners and other government agencies efficiently and consistently calculate the economic, social and environmental impacts of infrastructure projects.
- SolarSkyrise ($80,000) is developing software to determine the feasibility (technical, economic and sustainable) of installing solar systems on buildings. The project will accelerate and improve the capture and analysis of data.
